"Physical Changes Hit K,V"

The KV students and faculty saw, heard, felt, smelled, and tasted the many physical changes of the 1978-79 school year. Cougars saw the new building, heard the incoming freshman, and felt the presence of the new administrators. Accepting all these changes added an aspect of maturity and responsibility to the personalities of many students. Other Cougars decided to merely survive until change rearranged the Cougar world once again. To find out how '78-'79 changed the aromas and tastes of KVHS, turn to the next page.

1. The aspiring chefs conquer a new world. 2. New uniforms add to the spirit of the Pom Pom squad. 3. The long standing dream becomes reality as the swimming pool is finished. 4. Mr. Myers tackles the stack of paper work always awaiting an administrator. 4. Freshmen girls become involved in high school sports. 5. Mrs. Janowske, new teacher, finds new experiences exciting. 6. Pavement in the student parking lot makes it more convenient to drive to school.

Cooks strive against odds

Wednesday may be "Prince Spaghetti Day" in some parts of the country, but Wednesday brought only a repetition of last week's menu. The cooks did their best with the limited kitchen facilities available in the school.

Due to delayed construction progress, the kitchen was without most of the equipment needed to cook hot lunches. Students managed to survive on hamburgers, cheeseburgers, hot ham and cheeses for the better part of the school year. The people involved with the food preparation made up for the lack of variety meals by offering a different dessert almost every day. Cherry topped cheesecake, Peanut Cookies and Butterscotch Pudding topped the list of favorites.

Some talented art students tried to break up the construction-cluttered lunchroom by painting a winter scene mural on the southern wall.

1. "What do you mean it's Monopoly money?!!" inquires Grace Toth. 2. Shawn Cavinder promotes 'passionate purple' yogurt. 3. Gary Conley sums up everyone's anticipation for lunch. 4. "You toucha me — I schmusha 'dis in your face," warns Mr. Hummel. 5. Snichin' bites again, eh?

Homecoming '78 spirits soar

If one had thought he had seen one of the Seven Dwarfs, Mickey Mouse, or Donald Duck running through the school, he may have. The halls of KV were filled with Disney characters of every kind during "Disney Day" of Spirit Week. Other dress-up days included Clash Day, Backwards Day, and of course, Red 'n White Day.

The senior girls once again showed their superior Powder Puff playing ability by defeating the juniors 30 to 6. This marked the second time in KV's history that one class had won two years in a row.

During the pre-Homecoming pep session, all of the students screamed, hollered, stomped, cheered, and clapped in tremendous support of the KV football team. The entire gym shook with excitement.

The enthusiasm was not wasted, for the Cougars made a fine showing against the #6 rated North Newton Spartans. The final game score was KV 18, NN 26. Half-time highlights included a royal parade complete with class floats and convertibles. The Seniors' "Stomp 'Em Cougars" won the competition.

Local people hit headlines

While President Carter talked with the Mid East, Mork "nano-ed" television viewers, and the residents of Jones-town drank poisoned kool-aid, lots of not-so-publicized events happened very near to home.

Mrs. Gragido, a corporation bus driver, saw two buffalo along the road while on her bus route one day. Buffalo, which are any of the large Old World oxen such as the Cape Buffalo, are rather uncommon in this area. Through the thick fog the buffalo resembled cows, but Mrs. Gragido's discriminating eye noticed the difference.

Several times throughout the year, the Red Cross bloodmobile played dracula for a good cause. Victims 17 and older would wander suspiciously into the church hall (or wherever it was) and be seized by an assistant in white. The procedure then became rather unmentionable for those with queasy tummies.

Of the world renown celebrities who graced the streets of DeMotte, Snoopy was everyone's favorite. New celebrities were made of native citizens, especially one fellow who tried to pull his boat with his automobile and found his picture featured in the KVP. He also came to the rather sudden conclusion that autos don't make very good outboard motors.

The photos on these two pages were made available through the Kankakee Valley Post News.

1. Disecting can be fun as Fair Oaks men chop-chop-away. 2. "Honesty, it was a buffalo," exclaims Mrs. Gragido. 3. Bernie Tyson greets a world-renown man-size Snoopy.

1. Mr. Christopher thinks he's Napoleon while donating blood. 2. Wheatfield Kindergarten kids go for a spin on the fire engine. 3. Presenting the new 1979 half-submarine model of the Ford LTD, complete with motorboat.

"Mystery Surrounds KV Fall Play"

"It is always a challenge and great fun to prepare and perform an Agatha Christie mystery. This one has been especially beset with difficulties. I wish to offer special thanks to Greg Oliver and Robert Leturgez for their help and encouragement. Thanks also to the parents who, like my family, 'endured'. Applause and bouquets to cast and crew alike!" Carole J. Mangas.

Tryouts for the fall play were held the first week of October. Due to the great display of interest from the girls, the female parts in the play were double cast.

Each cast member, Mrs. Mangas, and Mary Haring, the assistant director, spent many exhausting early morning and late night practices trying to perfect the play.

Due to unfortunate circumstances and family illness, Andy Kozak, cast for the part of Guiles Ralston was unable to perform his role. Kerry McGuire, originally cast as the Mollie Ralston for Saturday night's performance, quickly learned the lines and played the part of Guiles Ralston Friday and Saturday nights.

The attendance at both performances encouraged the actors, and the applause proved all their efforts had been worthwhile.

Spikers encounter tough competition

The Konipar Spikers traveled to Morgan Township and entered a new Sectional. In previous years, KV hosted the Sectional, but due to too many sectionals within the state, the KV sectional had to be eliminated. The teams were sent to join other sectionals. Our Spikers joined Morgan Township, Wheeler, Hebron, Kouts, Washington Twp., Hanover Central and Boone Grove in the battle.

The girls put up a good fight, but eventually lost to the Hebron Hawks. Our loss was put in a better light when the Hebron girls went on to win the entire Sectional.

"KV Spirit Rises High"

"Are you ready? Are you ready? Are you ready to go? Yes, we're ready. Yes, we're ready. Yes, we're ready to go! Well, then let's go!"

This became the theme cheer of the newly organized cheerblock at KV. Cheerblock and pep club made uniforms which consisted of black pants, white blouses, and black and red vests, with ribbon ties of the opposite color.

The cheerleaders and cheerblock members worked hard at perfecting the different cheers and the motions that accompanied them.

Mr. Leturgez, the new principal, seemed to make "Build School Spirit" his motto.

Another spirit change happened when more boys became interested in taking other Home-Ec classes besides the required ones.

Other students, like Diane Georgakis, put spirit into everyday tasks.

The Cougars were challenged to change. Many ex-

Neither rain, nor snow, nor sleeting ice can hinder Cougars in their quest for dancing.

The annual Sunshine Society
Christmas Dance, held in the KV
Cafe, fell on an extremely icy night.
Rain poured from the sky and froze immediately on the roads, the trees, the cars and even on people.

The dance hall, decorated with pine boughs and Christmas-y backdrops, captured everyone's "bogie-mood".

The announcement of the Dance Queen, a new tradition begun this year, highlighted the evening. A couple of weeks prior to the dance, each Sunshine Girl voted for the Queen. The candidates, one from each class, were Jill Chase, Lynn
Scott, Cheryl Nelson, and Darcy
Green. The results of the election named Darcy Green as the first Dance Queen.

Administration tries to accomplish perfection at KV.

Mr. Scamihorn and Mr. Ryska, the new assistant superintendent, along with the other administrative staff worked hard in preparing for the move to the middle school. Situating the staff and students seemed to create quite a hassle due to the shortage of teachers.

During many visits to the school Mr. Scamihorn, and Mr. Ryska were impressed with the pride the students have taken in the school. Although many changes have occurred in '79 and are expected for '80, hopefully students will adjust and normality will once again return to KV.

"Is that the principal?" "Who's Mr. Post?" "Is that a teacher or the new vice-principal?" "Is Mrs. McCluggage still here?" These and many more questions concerning the new administration were encountered during the beginning of the school year.

KV. students adjusted to the reality of a new administration. With some enthusiasm students became more involved with these people and found that they were no different from anyone else.

Mr. Leturgez, the new principal, along with Mr. Myers, vice-principal and athletic director, and Mr. Post, the dean of students, soon became aware of the bad habits of some students and earnestly worked together to correct these habits. Spirit and discipline were strongly emphasized their first year. The administrators found that with these goals accomplished, new and better activities could be offered to the students.

At first some students openly rejected the new administration and their rules, but as the year came to an end, most students accepted the changes as for the better. Many problems were solved this year, many still remain, but with our strong administration, great accomplishments hopefully can be made in the near future.

Changes also affected the English Department at KV, as it had new and better classrooms. Smaller classes 3rd and 4th quarter allowed teachers to spend more time in helping students and preparing new ideas.

Mr. Wortman's German classes spent many hours planning their trip to Germany around Easter vacation. This trip had been postponed from last year, but enthusiasm of participants helped bring it into being this year.

New faces in the English Department were Mrs. Jankowske, yearbook sponsor, and Mrs. Glenn, the replacement for Mr. Osburn.

The Special Education Department progressed steadily. Mrs. McKinney, a new aid to Special Ed., helped Mr. Oliver prepare for new and exciting events.

We're learning from each other

1. Jeff Van Oort passes his study time away by chatting with a nearby neighbor. 2. Bob Hosieh unsuccessfully tries to get the attention of the class. 3. Jennifer Riggles points the facts out to Roger Koster. 4. Kelly McBride reads the finished product with satisfaction. 5. Charlotte Heinz puts herself in the "high position" so she can teach the class. 6. Sue Gaillard and Michelle Leturgez discuss their most recent homework assignments.

Accomplishments come with chaos

Schedules, bookwork, and many other tedious jobs provided more than enough work to keep the guidance office people busy during the year. Mrs. Traster, Mr. Hughes and Mrs. Stimple did their best to keep business running smoothly throughout the year.

Miss Smith and Mr. Hartzler had their work cut out for them in trying to keep both the middle school and the high school up-dated with the newest books and films. Trying to manage two schools proved to be quite a task; but with the help of Mrs. Kurdalak, library and AV assistants, the job was completed admirably.

Students get a daily workout.

High School students realized how challenging Physical Education could be when the middle school was completed, and the classes became more advanced. Mr. Gross and Mrs. Hanley "cracked down" on the students and on the requirements of the classes.

Middle School students continued to use the high school gym because their gym was not completed, but this didn't seem to bother high school students since the classes were kept separate from each other. High Schoolers realized that soon the Middle School students would be gone forever.

One of the attractions of parents night was student participation. Denise Matusak performed along with other students in an acrobatic routine. 4. Students found PE classes to be more exciting and challenging as they all got involved in the competition. 5. Sophomore boys continually found first year typing class to be a challenge, but realized what the reward should be. 6. Three second year typing students, Sharon DeKock, Mindy Flick, and Dawn Jungels, worked to perfect their skill in production typing.

Students working in the field of business anticipated the outcome of their daily goals. Business classes became more of a challenge as students worked to achieve their best. Students in typing, shorthand, and accounting seemed to be in competition with each other in seeing which class would do best.

This year the business department put into programs the plans for an extensive office lab. New machines and business equipment were bought for this purpose. When completed, the room was designed to give students a taste of working in the outside world.

The Home-Ec and Ind. Arts classes faced many changes during the year. Due to teachers leaving when the Middle School was completed, and to the enthusiasm for these classes, many students were forced to change their schedules so the classes were kept to a maximum size.

This year a Parent's Night was held in order to show parents what goes on during school hours. Cake decorating was demonstrated throughout the night in the Home-Ec Department.

The Ind. Arts department explained to parents what kind of tools the school furnishes and just how to use them. Mr. Foster also explained to parents about the Ag class, telling them the modern ways of farming his students were learning.

1. Leslie Rudis attempts to prepare for class. 2. Sherri Salyer snips silk sleeve shirt pattern. 3. Tommy Ballard learns to be a master chef. 4. "Look what we perfected" exclaims Sandy Slawnikowski and Jenny Snihurwycz. 5. Dave Simmons demonstrates the proper use of shop tools. 6. Kevin Cavinder says, "In a few more days, you'll never know I made it!" 7. Mr. Foster explains the significance of a farming tool to an interested parent.

Talents displayed through demonstrations.

Culture invades K.V.

After the move to the middle school, Mr. Sakel, Mr. Metzger, and Mr. Bolka were left with the problem of teaching all the students needing history classes. Court systems and Indiana government seemed to be the most popular classes with students. Court systems gave the student a chance to get away from the everyday "seatwork" of a classroom. More students became involved in Indiana government because of their interest in local and state government.

The usual smell of an art room filled the hallways at KV. Students engaged their minds into their world of imagination. Students seemed to look forward to their hour of art to let their creative minds go to work. No longer were students shy to show their work, but they hung it in the hallways for all to see.

The sound of music still remained loud and strong with all the concerts and practicing going on at KV. Mr. Wharton, Mr. Yarnell, and their students worked many long hours, so their groups could achieve the best sound possible. For the third year in a row, the Senior High Chorus performed their Christmas program at Southlake Mall.

KV experiments add up to hard work

Dissecting animals, locating stars, and experimenting with chemicals proved to be the most interesting aspects in the field of science at KV.

Students given the opportunity to be involved in labs, take field trips and work after school found out what fields of science interested them. Some students, after finding out what they liked best, entered their projects in the science fair that had once again been started at KV.

Once again math students came to the conclusion that math classes challenged them more than they had expected. Getting through the last two quarters of algebra, geometry, and trig, upset many students when they found themselves nearly flunking out. Maybe someday students will gladly realize the importance of the knowledge and thinking experience gained.

A place and time for change

Mrs. Kennedy kept the noise down to a minimum as students realized the use of study hall. Students found study hall a time for catching up, or just getting in a cat-nap before the next class.

Cold sandwiches and snacks became KV students worst enemies. Due to the building of the Middle School and remodeling of the cafeteria, students were forced to eat cold lunches or bring their own. During the middle of 3rd quarter, hot lunches were once again served and the usual long lunch lines were to be awaited.

1. Fred Nicholi reads to make time go by a bit faster. 2. Carol Ahlmeir waits patiently to pay for her appetizing lunch. 3. Bret Vandermolen finds that having friends at times can be irritating while trying to work. 4. Craig Knapp decides to use his time wisely to do some "catching up." 5. Bob DeVries assumes he's done enough work for the day. 6. Ed Wireman remarks, "If only this was prime rib, I wouldn't mind the wait."

Who does KV's dirty work?

Custodians, as usual, had many duties. Some of these included the daily cleaning of every classroom and bathroom, keeping the various athlete's clothes clean, and seeing that everything mechanical continued to work.

Besides their regular duties, a few custodians had "extra-curricular activities". Mr. Wood could be seen at every after-school function, such as Sunshine affairs, the school plays, and athletic events.

The custodians found that their jobs could be rewarding most of the time.

1. Mrs. Meeks does her daily "housework" in the Spanish room. 2. All dressed up for an after school function, Mr. Woods does some last minute touching up.

Freshmen finally in "High School!"

With the completion of the middle school this year, the freshmen finally were able to enjoy the many high school activities, including Heart Fund, Homecoming and Powder Puff Basketball.

Heart Fund queen candidate Heidi Harrison, escorted by Dave Albritton, had much student help to collect over $200.00.

The achievement of second place in both the homecoming float and powder puff basketball competitions helped raise the spirit of the freshmen this year.

The class of '82; as unique as the Mona Lisa

"O-o-o-ka-a-y" and "Tottles" have one thing in common; They are both very "different". Freshmen this year used their imaginations as well as talents to bring out their personalities, which were rather unique. The two expressions above, adopted by freshmen, could be heard throughout the Freshmen locker area constantly. Along with these two sayings, the class members brought forth their true characteristics, to just be themselves.

Talking about uniqueness, well there sure will be some shown after some of the freshmen finish drivers education. Everyone looked forward to the moment when they could go somewhere without being chauffeured by their parents. "Look out world, more crazy drivers will be on the loose."

Not being "old enough" to take a regular job also set the freshman aside. Summer jobs will give them a chance to earn some extra pocket money, as well as to keep them busy. "We'll grow up in no time," summed up the feelings of most freshmen this year.

New classes found by eager sophomores.

Sophomores found many new high school classes available and presenting new challenges. Typing allowed many the chance to test finger agility. Some, however, became hesitant to go super fast and thereby increase the chance for typographical errors. Fears lasted for only a short time as students saw their names posted on the 'top ten' board first quarter. Getting on the board became rougher as the year progressed; the 'top ten' was reduced to the 'top five' in speed and the 'top five' with the least amount of errors, challenging the typists even more.

Winning titles awarded to sophomores.

This year class members elected Jenny Jesko to be in the Homecoming Queen's court. At the sophomore class meeting students also elected the class officers and advisory council.

Chosen to represent the class as F.F.A. Sweetheart candidates were Mary Grover and Cheryl DeVries. Mary Grover received the title of Sweetheart and served as hostess at all F.F.A. functions.

Martha Haring, after being chosen as Heartfund candidate, went to various local stores to collect money. Other class members also helped her to collect. Because the sophomore class collected the most money, Martha won.

Sophomores experience a year of changes.

Sophomores this year really felt and showed change. Their spirit had them up and shouting at ballgames, pep sessions, and various other activities. During February the new point board hung in the gym for the first time, and sophomores had the points for third place. Sophomores and others showed a great interest in the new cheerblock. During Sectionals sophomores won second place in the locker decorating contests.

Teamwork becomes Jr. Motto

Juniors began the 1978 school year with the annual magazine sale. This was to finance the Junior-Senior prom. The hard working kids had a very successful campaign and raised approximately $6100. Shari Hamstra collected a total of $226.65 to achieve first place. Carrie Hittle came in second with $225.68, and Cindy Hanley finished third with $191.47. The girls won $30, $20, and $10, respectively. With magazine sales behind them, juniors turned their ambitions toward Homecoming.

The annual Junior-Senior powder puff game incited all the girls to a "fighting mad". They still lost to the experienced seniors. The 1978 Homecoming festivities included a float building contest, along with the annual events. The juniors worked diligently all week on their float, entitled "Fire up for a Victory". Bonnie Recker, escorted by Terry Schultz, represented the junior class in the Homecoming court.

The guys of FFA chose juniors Cheryl Nelson and Diane DeKock as "Sweetheart" candidates.

Later during the year the class elected Kathleen Grube to represent them for the Heartfund Queen contest. The campaign was very successful raising a total of $321.57.

Being a Junior is competitive.

All during the school year, competition between the classes seemed to discourage the juniors. At first, they appeared to be always falling short of being on top. Due to this, as the year ended, the juniors found they had lost the spirit point system, an awards program offering points for the most spirit. The prize was a free day off of school in the spring. Even though the class had seemingly lost its school spirit, a majority of the class members proved they had spirit throughout the entire year. Locker decorations and spirit costumes and get-ups took students' minds away from the daily drudgery of class.

Juniors prepare for future

College bound juniors took the PSAT/NMSQT exam on October 22 to help them prepare for the SAT exam. Others prepared for a career in business, taking such courses as typing, shorthand, and accounting. Technical courses taken included agriculture and woodworking. Home-ec classes provided students with a chance to learn domestic skills.

This year Mr. Christopher and Mr. Hummel introduced powder-puff basketball. This gave the juniors a chance to take revenge on the seniors. Unfortunately, the seniors proved to be tops again.

Sunshiners dispel 'bad weather blues'

Girls who joined Sunshine Society this year found themselves in one of the most popular clubs at KV. Sunshine members did a variety of things this year that proved fun for all who participated.

The main event was the Christmas Dance, held on December 2. Despite the bad weather many sunshiners still came to dance and socialize for a few hours.

Because of the number of members, a separate Senior "Ideal Lady Tea" was held in January. This allowed more time and room for entertainment and refreshments.

The "Mother-Daughter Salad Bar," "Daddy Date Night," and regular "Ideal Lady Tea" attendance acclaimed these activities' popularity with the girls and parents. KV's own Jazz Band entertained at the Tea before a magic show was presented by a local magician. To end the year, the girls held a new activity, "Senior Citizen Day," called the "Ice Follies".

FFA serves KV and community

The Future Farmers of America (F.F.A.) accomplished many things this year, including the annual turkey shoot, banquet, Sweetheart Queen Contest, livestock judging, and seed sales. For some fun, FFA members went bowling, roller skating, and hosted a disco dance. They also went to Chicago in May to watch a White Sox game.

The FFA people also performed a community service by sandbagging the Kankakee River by Shelby when the river flooded over.

This year's sweetheart queen was Mary Grover. She was chosen from the following contestants: Cheryl DeVries, Mary Grover, Diane Dekock, and Cheryl Nelson.

KV Band and Pom Pons strut their stuff

1978-79 proved to be a very successful year for KV's Band department. Mr. Yarnell, the new band director made many improvements. KV's Jazz Band consisted of many outstanding musicians and won several awards.

KV talents expressed

K.V.'s high school choir and mixed choir had a very busy year. The choir gave ten concerts and mixed choir gave eight. Soloists, duets, and ensembles received medals at the NISBOVA contest held at South Newton H.S. Out of eighty-seven total medals won, sixty-nine were first places. First place winners in Group 1 went on to sing at the state contest. Again, everyone either placed first or second.

Besides all of that, some choir members, along with other interested students, tried out for parts in K.V.'s first musical, "The Wizard of Oz". They proved they could be very good actors and actresses.

Art club didn't go on any field trips this year, but instead they hoped to paint murals in the junior locker area. Most members participated in the annual art show in May.

As in past years, the Art Club sponsored a student, Jenny Riggle, to attend a week of instruction in art at Ball State.

iHola! Wie Gehts?

"Guten Tag meine Freunde, wie gehts?" The German Club, headed by President Charlotte Heinz, Vice-president Debbie Condes, Treasurer Mark Hohner, and Secretary Tina Holst, made plans to again take a trip to Germany. With much luck and the interest of the students, the plans for the trip succeeded. The trip was taken during Easter vacation. Eight club members attended this trip: Brian Myers, Kevin Taylor, Steve Liebbe, Debbie Condes, Laurie Condes, Karen Myers, Pam Schroeder, and Tina Holst. Toward the end of the year the club planned a picnic at Jasper-Pulaski Game Preserve. During one of the meetings, the third and fourth year students in German Club also wrote and acted out in German their very own play.

Spanish Club celebrated Christmas by having a Spanish type party. In January, their sponsor, Miss Swartzell, became Mrs. Wiseman, and they presented her with a Presto Burger as a wedding present.

Members decided to hold a end-of-the-year party at Jasper Pulaski Game preserve.

New clubs and new activities at KV

Pathfinders used their meeting time for praying, studying the Bible, and singing. The club hosted a roller skating party for the students not in Pathfinders. Pathfinders who had taken two quarters of Bible history were allowed to go on a field trip to Moody Bible Institute.

Math Club sponsored a chess tournament this year. Mike Scott officially won the tournament, but turned over the trophy to second place winner, Eric Wignall, as Mike felt he had an unfair advantage of more experience.

Science Club spent a busy year studying stars from Dunes State Park, going to Indiana University, working on projects for the Science Fair, and staying after school for more intensive work on different interests.

Simulations club formally organized this year. The club met after school with their sponsor, Mr. Wortman. The club consisted of a group of boys who challenged each other in complicated war games such as "Terrible Swift Sword," "Strike Force One," and many more. The names may sound unusual, but the games were interesting

Drama Club and Kaleidoscope make headlines

NEWSPAPERSTAFF NEWSPAPERSTAFF NEWSPAPERSTAFF NEWSPAPERSTAFF NEWSPAPERSTAFF NEWSPAPERSTAFF

For the second year in a row, the newspaper staff had the Kougar Kaleidoscope professionally printed. In order to do this, staff members raised money by selling carnations. Each different color carried a different message. Students seemed pleased with this system of raising money and also with the newspaper's format.

The Kaleidoscope's advisor, Mrs. Gregory had this to say, "The staff used their limited time well."

Mrs. Mangas, sponsor of the Drama Club, provided leadership for the club's activities. Club members, cast, and crews put much effort and hard work into the play, "The Mousetrap". They found that producing a play was more than just memorizing parts; there was lots of behind-the-stage work to be done.

After the last production of the play, club members decided to reward themselves with a day in Chicago. They attended the play the "King and I" and dined afterwards.

Change brings new clubs and new sponsors

The 1979 Kougar Pride staff had to put up with as many changes as did the rest of the student body. Mrs. Jankowske, the new sponsor, helped with overcoming the many obstacles on the long yearbook road. She also had quite a few wonderful fund raising ideas she shared with the group.

The annual yearbook dance became a Disco in KV's own "Cafe Disco Palace". The dance was complete with a live disc player and free albums. April Fools' Day did not roll by unnoticed, for the Pride staff had sold "Got 'cha Grams" the previous week and ribbed everyone with great put-downs.

The Office Education Association (O.E.A.), headed by Mrs. Frith was one of the several new clubs introduced at KV this year. O.E.A. was organized to encourage the business students to further their capabilities and enter into competition. Club activities included candy sales, a visit to a Lafayette business office and participation in contests.

Many members entered in the Regional O.E.A. contest during February. Sharon Duttlinger, Marg Duttlinger, Sharon DeKock, Linda Earp, Vickie Ka-

Iuf, Cherrie Knight, and Mindy Flick returned to KV with trophies.

Sharon and Marg Duttlinger, Sharon DeKock, Linda Earp, Cherrie Knight, and Vickie Kaluf finished with scores high enough to merit entrance into the state competition.

Sharon Duttlinger finished sixth in the state in Stenographic II. Linda Earp placed first in the state Stenographic II and represented KV and the State of Indiana in the National O.E.A. contest held in Cincinnati, Ohio on May 11-14.

SC and NHS experience an Eastern Easter

The Student Council and the National Honor Society both toured Washington D.C. this year during Easter vacation. The group visited eighteen sites, including the White House.

Student Council activities had a late start this year, but still managed to keep students entertained. Many convos and an exhibition basketball game pitting the Chicago Cubs against KV teachers were some of the many things held.

Spirits rise high

K.V.'s spirit really soared this year. The three groups behind this tremendous change were the cheerleaders, cheerblock, and pep club.

The pep club members united with other girls to form the new KV Cheerblock, organized by Mrs. Allen Myers. Standard cheerblock uniforms of vests, shirts and ties proudly displayed the victorious red and black.

The cheerleaders and Mrs. Myers taught enthusiastic members new and old cheers, block yells and songs.

KV Football on the road to success

The KV football season of 1978 was one of great excitement, of goals set and then strived for. Although the team ended with a record of 3-6, there was a feeling of success for the season as a whole. As an article in a local newspaper suggested, KV football was back on the road, destined for success. A change in spirit could be felt at each football game. In a conference match-up against state-ranked North Newton, the fighting Cougars nearly pulled out a victory, only to have time run out on them near the goal line. The conference tangle with Lake Station and the down-to-the-wire encounter with West Central provided more excitement throughout the season.

Spectacular individual performances abounded, including Mike Overby's conference record of most pass receptions in a game and Mitch Schultz' single-game record of 25 tackles. Roy Davis and Jim Wallace were chosen for the Honorable Mention All-Conference team; Jim Wallace also received All-Area Honorable Mention.

Teamwork aids 9th & JV teams

The underclass football program of 1978 could be said to have been in a rebuilding year. With records of 2-3-1 and 2-5 (for freshman and JV teams, respectively), most people would be inclined to agree. This was not the case however; as with the Varsity football team, the win-loss marks meant little of nothing. There was a great spirit to be felt between the teammates and a not-uncertain "Never-say-die!" attitude. This led naturally to some outstanding team performances for both squads.

Throughout the course of the season, the freshman team members met goals set forth by their coaches and surprised the fans along the way. In the third game of the young season, the ninth-graders achieved a feat never before accomplished by a KV team — the 30-6 rout of Valparaiso Thomas Jefferson. Also, in the emotion-packed final game of the season, the Cougar Cubs again came out on top as the victors over arch-rival North Newton by a margin of two points.

As for the JV team, there was the 12-10 outcome of the Benton Central game and, to complete the trend started by the Varsity, the 8-0 win over Lake Station. In 1978, no KVHS football team was beaten by Lake Station.

FRESHMAN FOOTBALL TEAM (L-R): first row — D. Williams, J. Watt, B. Kearney, B. Vander Molen, B. Patzchke, D. Turner, S. Green, Jr. Dahm, R. Hale; second row — J. Gregory, P. Kingma, B. Erwin, C. ## Spikers find the start of something good

The 1978 Varsity Volleyball team began the season with several fine victories, but as the team progressed, their play would sometimes falter.

Coach Hanley introduced new strategies and encouraged the team to keep trying. Five seniors played their last season, bringing home a 7-9 record. In sectional play, the Spikers tangled with the Hebron Hawks in the first round. The Hawks demonstrated some fine net play, and the KV Spikers were defeated in an exciting, down-to-the-wire match.

There were some fine individuals playing for KV during this season. Kathy Olis, only a junior, was picked as Most Valuable Player and was also named to the All-Conference team. Other special awards went to Johanna Sutton for Top Server and to Mary Duttlinger for Most Improved.

The J.V. and Froshmen girls volleyball teams were at their best for the '79 season, playing the hardest and toughest games ever.

The J.V. team worked hard at practice to give themselves the "winning edge" for the real match, which wasn't far off.

Meanwhile, the Froshmen were working just as hard to learn the rules and regulations of the game of volleyball. "What's a spike?" and "Where do I go now?" were some of the familiar questions asked by the newcomers.

Even with the many roadblocks put in the path of both J.V. and Froshmen volleyball teams, they still felt that 1979 was a very good and successful year for the K.V. Spikers. All were looking forward to next year's challenge.

It's a new K.V. record!!

The Cross-Country boys had this year their most successful season in the history of Kankakee Valley, with a record of 13 wins and 6 losses. The Cougars scored a number of impressive marks during the season: champions of the annual K.V. Invitational, fourth in the conference, fourth in North Newton's Invitational, and thirteenth in the sectional.

Led by one senior, five juniors and one freshman, the future of our Cross-Country Cougars looks very bright.

Individual awards presented this season went to: Most Valuable — Jeff Wallace, Most Improved — Brian Mize, Rookie of the Year — Bob DeVries. Though they weren't given an award on banquet night, Coach Risinger and Assistant Coach Oliver were a vital part of the team's success.

"It's a pin!"

Shouts of pure joy rose every time a Kougar wrestler scored a pin. After having his arm shoved into the air by the official, the elated grappler was flooded by ecstatic teammates. This was a very happy time for all the members of the team.

But even the best wrestlers lose at the game sometimes, and our boys were no exception. They felt defeat during the season, along with victory, and learned to cope with it; learned to bounce back; learned to try again. It was this undying spirit that led the Kougars to a victorious season of wins and losses.

Seasons come, and seasons go, but the 1979 basketball season, will be remembered for years to come by the students of Kankakee Valley.

The season had been very balanced as to wins and losses, which gave the impression that the Cougars were only an average playing team. Many fans had lost faith in their ability.

Then came sectional time, and time for the mighty Cougars to show their strength. They defeated every opponent and finished as Sectional champs, delighting the K.V. crowd and proving themselves to be truly the best!

JV and Frosh practice, practice, practice

Hard work and a lot of practice hours filled the Junior Varsity basketball team's season, along with the games themselves. Drilling to become better and to sharpen skills was a constant part of the after school time spent by the J.V. team.

But the Freshmen weren't just standing idly by during these practice periods; they were working just as hard to achieve perfection in the game of basketball.

Over all, the two teams were considered to have been very successful during the 1979 basketball season and are expected to add greatly to our teams in the coming seasons.

Individuals shine in KV Track competition

Poles and cleats, hurdles and sweats, finish lines and ribbons ... of course, it's track!

The '79 track team worked hard and reaped the rewards, using pure guts and stamina to come out strong for the season.

Conquering the problems of '79 Girls Track

"I left my shoes at home, so I guess I can't come to practice;" "how many laps is a 440?;" "I CAN'T DO THAT!" These were some of the many statements heard from the girls who composed the girls track team.

The girls faced many problems this season: colliding into one another while running through the halls; trying to escape the cold weather; having all their meets away; and putting up with an unfinished track. Still, the girls finished the season winning. They even had one girl, Ellen Obara, qualify for the ## Special Olympic team brings state honors to K.V.

In the second year of Special Olympics basketball, honor and recognition was bought to K.V. A new state champion in the 18 AA and under bracket was crowned. In the district regional game held at Notre Dame's ACC, K.V. lost 25-27 in overtime to Gary Lew Wallace. Although suffering their first defeat, K.V. was chosen to represent Region I in Terre Haute. March 30, at Men's Arena ISU, the action saw K.V. defeat Silver Creek from Sellersburg, 31-19 in the semi-final game. K.V. returned the next day to meet Indianapolis Lawrence Worth in the finals. K.V. showed poise and determination as they fought to an overtime victory 45-44 and so a new state champion was crowned.

K.V. was also chosen as the alternate to represent the state of Indiana in the International Games in Brockport N.Y. Coach Oliver says "congratulations and great job" to the team.

Lights! camera! action!

"The world is but an empty stage and I am but a player!" Those famous words ring so true, and here are some of our school's unknown actors, both hams and naturals, to provide proof.

1. Roy Davis grins when the camera turns his way. 2. A sleep walking Captain Hook is Cindy McKinney. 3. Mike Molon models his new hat while a prankster lurks behind. 4. Just another step beyond, into the unknown!

Step with us for a moment into the world of the unknown. Into a strange land where schizophrenic freaks lurk by every locker. One minute, they are calm, cool, respectful; the next, they are screaming, raving nuts!

Such is the case of many K.V. students. Often we expect crazy actions from them, but many times we are totally shocked!

On the next few pages are some of the "unknown surprises" we've encountered at K.V. during 1979.

1. Kelly Dunn sulks between the streamers. 2. "KISS" couldn't do it better, Dave Howard! 3. Gayle Struble and Val Gifford demonstrate one way of getting everyone into the picture. 4. Roberta Barker reaches for a high ceiling. 5. Dawn Seegers, "I've got you now Harry Anderson!" 6. Andrea Jones and her Barbara Streisand imitation. 7. A totally lost and confused Sue Fraley stumbles around a pep session.

Show us your talent K.V.!

Superman is able to leap tall buildings in a single bound, but the K.V. kids can do many feats that would shame even the man of steel! On these pages are a few examples of K.V.'s very gifted students. So, get ready and feast your eyes on our Kankakee Valley gallery of unknown talents!

1. Greg Hamstra demonstrates the newest form of exercise, Bull Heading!! 2. Mr. Wortman's German II class has "double features" as Mike Hohner and Tim Rossmannith show. 3. "Let's see," says Kerry McGuire to Kim Pardus, "I think they are green!" 4. Paul Moolenaar gives a lesson on "How to Properly Whitewash." 5. Does it take very long to grow one of those, Kevin Lacey? 6. Frank Aloia must have the world's most talented digestive system! 7. Awwww! Did you go boom-boom? Skating is just not one of your better skills, Lisa Worthington!

Congratulations to K.V.'s cover design winner

Be Together!*

The K.V. Pride Staff would like to take this opportunity to congratulate Miss Kelly Dunn, this year's cover design winner, for her fantastic and original entry.

Nice job, Kelly!!

Nineteen Hundred Seventy-Nine

Thought I'd drop a line or two as I reminisce concerning the zenith of our high school experience. Just as we learned that one plus one is two, we've learned much, much more.

We grew and watched our friends grow with us. We cried their tears, smiled their smiles and shared their highs and lows. I still remember that one plus one is two, but not in the same way that I remember the moments I shared with you while we learned that little fact. Those moments taught us what no book or teacher could.

As our worlds were opened to us, like a dawning sun fills a day, so our hearts were also filled. And none of this seemed so apparent until this year, 1979, had arrived. Each year came ever closer to that moment that would "never" come. Now with it upon us, we can't believe it is here. In a fleeting moment 1979 will be only a memory, yet one that will be remembered when others are forgotten. Yes, I think that's what it's all about. Not the things we've learned, but the moments that made them possible.

How we'll miss: the crowded halls and the opening and closing of lockers, the chitter-chatter the stairwells whispered in our ears as we hurried up and down them, how self-conscious some of us became when we thought people would notice how we wiggled when sharpening our pencils, and the eye contact we had in the hall with those special people we wished would share with us a beach of snow white sand as the sun slips into the sea splashing the sky with an enlightening brilliance softer than the clouds.

We let slip away the too few dances of an intensified unspoken language that made the spirit soar. Some of us experienced the painful warmth of our "seats" as we sat after the whacks dealt out for misbehaving.

Who could forget those notes of love and friendship passed in and between classes? Or those sporting events that sometimes filled our arms with a certain someone?

I wish to end with one small thought: "Life is a moment filled with moments all your own, and to share them is to Love; a love that creates and binds eternally within you."

A senior's last year in high school is really special. It's for everyone, and the only time during high school when you can get away with just about anything.

A lot of seniors feel the best part of their Senior Year is knowing they have finally made it through school. And though some won't admit it, they are proud to have made it without quitting when the going got tough.

By the time a student becomes a senior, he has acquired most of the courses and credits required for graduation, and takes it easy in class allowing plenty of time to goof off, to sleep, or whatever.

"All seniors should cherish this year in their lives, making it their greatest year in school, making it a year to look back on with PRIDE, and knowing they made something of it since it's the only time in their life when they will have the opportunity to be a senior in high school. It only happens once; make it worth the effort!"

What do "Animal House", the color "blue" and the number "eight" have in common? A survey taken by the Kougar Pride Staff of this year's seniors showed these three as "favs."

Sixty percent of the seniors polled said they planned to go on to college, twelve percent remained undecided, and eight percent wished to join some branch of the armed forces. Practically fifty percent of those polled had after school jobs. The life of a senior is every so busy.

The favorite rock group of the seniors surveyed was Chicago's own "Styx". When asked which groups looked most promising, "Cheap Trick," "AC/DC," "Van Halen," "Journey" and "Toto" were ranked at the top. The really "wild and crazy" Steve Martin provided the seniors with lots of laughs through his comedy albums and guest appearances on Saturday Night Live.

As kids cruised town, celebrated victories, and revenged athletic losses, stereos cranked "You Really Got Me Now", Foreigner's "Double Vision", "Hot Child in the City", and "T-N-T". When relaxing with a favorite guy or gal, mellow music provided an excellent background. "Life's Been Good", "Kiss You All Over", and "You Needed Me" floated through the air waves.

Seniors add life to KV '79

A senior's last year in high school is filled with good times and roving Pride photographers. Grover Umphreys and Mike Slager are really 'Wild and Crazy guys'. Photogenic Lisa Kirk displays her amazing tongue. Gary Conley can't decide whether up is down or down is up!!!

Seniors — silly and serious.

Is the life of a senior really exciting? glamorous? spellbinding?

Perhaps not, but it is a time for special friends and reminiscing. The culmination of everything one has worked so hard for throughout one's school career finally has permanent bearing on life. The decision has to be made whether to continue in school or to go out into the work-a-day world.

Old friends from grade school are even more precious as each Senior plans his future; New friends fast become old friends, especially now.

Seniors earn green backs.

Seniors work for a living!

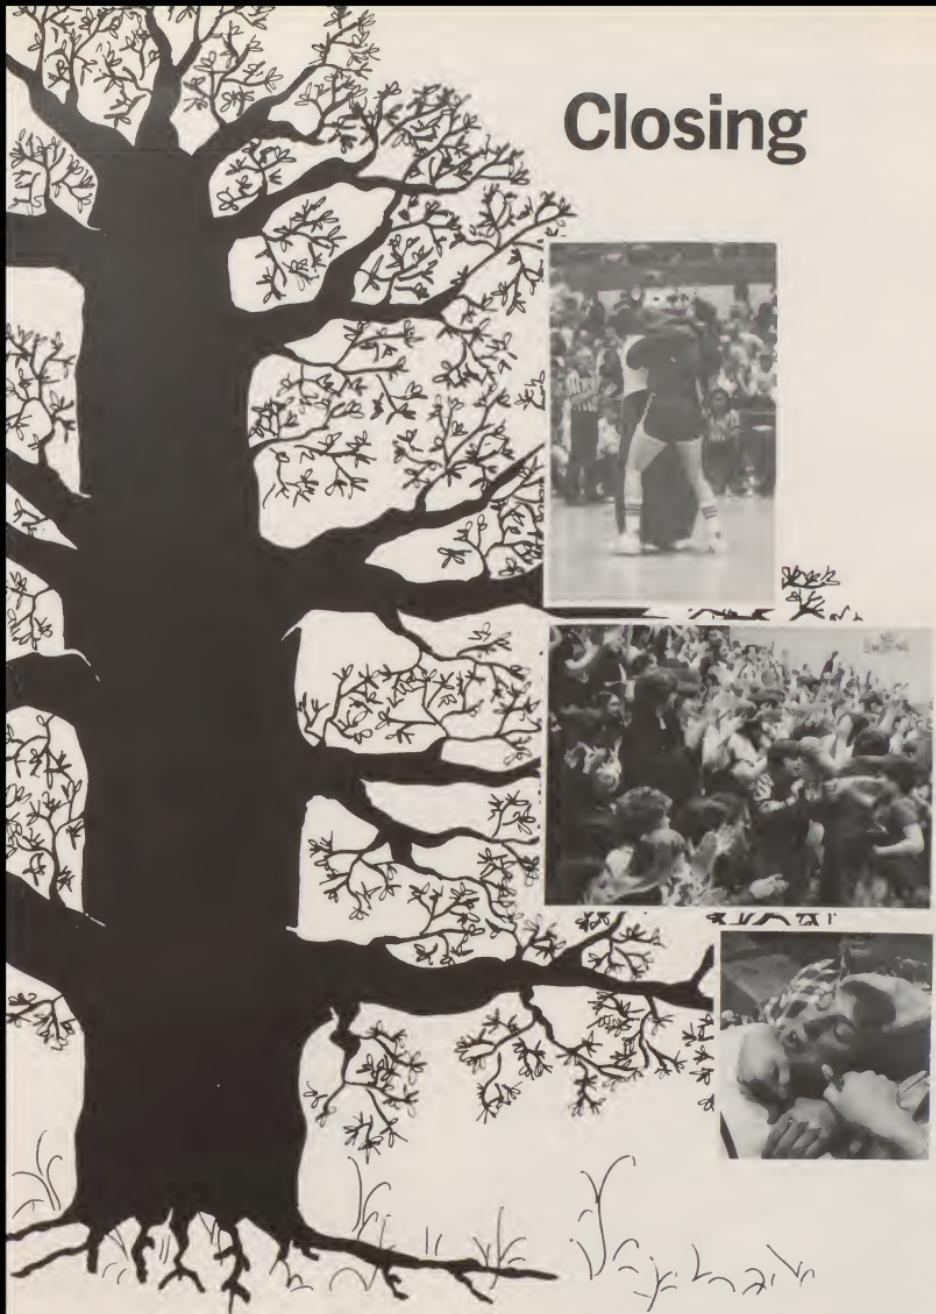

Yes, some of them do. 48% of the kids polled said they held either part or full time jobs. Working after a hard day of school can be quite taxing on a person, but going to school for only half a day gives a senior plenty of time to work or 'whatever'.

The half-day-school-day allows Seniors an opportunity to work and to gain a sense of responsibility — a sense that will also let them appreciate high school and everything it has to offer.

Variety adds spice to K.V.

The Student Council brought in many varied convos for the enjoyment of the students of KV this year. The wide range included a modern dance team, Shakespeare's play, "The Taming of the Shrew", and pop-rock singer John Tate.

Mr. Abbring, the sponsor, even managed to hire the Chicago Cubs for a fund raising basketball game against KV teachers. The proceeds helped Student Council members earn their way to Washington D.C. over spring break.

Forty members of the Student Council and National Honor Society flew to our nation's capital in mid-April. This, the second year Mrs. Fritch has offered the tour to club members, found many more kids enthusiastic about making the trip. The fantastic 'get-away' was topped off with an exciting conclusion — a chance to go to a real disco palace in Washington D.C.

1. The modern dance team perform in December. 2. The "Salt and Light Company", composed of high school students, sing many current pop-rock hits. 3. Brian Myers and Devin McGuire become actors for an afternoon in "The Taming of the Shrew". 4. The Chicago Cubs' mascot, Cubby the Bear, is about to be hit by a fly-away basketball. 5. Handsome John Tate sings his way into every young girl's heart. 6. Kate strikes another blow for equal rights.

"Just you and me, simple and free" captured the spirit of 1979's Junior-Senior Prom. As Kougar couples danced around the hardwood floor of Halleck Center, the festive air could be detected for miles. The band, Windsong, filled the hall with music and couples jumped at the chance to 'shake a leg.'

Again this year, midnight rolled around too soon and the fun was over for another whole year. But the day after Prom provided another chance for couples to get-away by themselves. Kougars swarmed to Turkey Run, the Dunes, amusement parks, and the Shades.

Kougars overcome odds to win!!!

The KV Kougars swarmed to the floor as the excited crowd raised the roof. The Kougars, who had been predicted to lose in the first game of the Sectional, had just won. Not only did they beat the No. 1 rating North Newton, they also creamed the Rensselaer Bombers, thus qualifying for the final match.

Saturday came, and it was Kankakee Valley against Lowell. The Red Devils cheered loudly as their team strutted out. When the Kougars took the floor, they really took it!

Kankakee Valley stomped the bleachers 'til the rafters shook, then held the excitement throughout the game. When the buzzer rang, the Kougars had defeated the Red Devils. It was over. Cougar fans waved farewell to Lowell with strained chants of "Hey, hey, hey, good-bye". The final score officially proclaimed the Kougars as victors.

1. Paul Moolenaar 'gets his piece of the net'. 2. The thrill of victory tremendously overcomes Dee Hendon. 3. Steve Zylstra shoots a valuable free throw. 4. Center Kent Bierma can't decide to whom to pass the ball. 5. Matt Chapman 'skins' his public. 6. Troy Jackson is well guarded by a North Newton player. 7. ## Students are challenged and rewarded

As the year drew to a close, Award's Day became a reality. Many students had dreamed of earning awards. The top few selected were rewarded for their hard work and perseverance.

This year, the awards were presented at two different programs. Underclassmen received theirs during school hours, while the seniors were rewarded at Senior Night. Because of this, Seniors were honored at their own ceremony without having to share their moments of glory with underclassmen. Mr. Leturgez hoped to make Senior Night a lasting tradition at Kankakee Valley.

Seniors face graduation '1979'

Faces of old and faces of new,
People we know and people we knew,
Growing together, then drifting apart,
Always an ending and now a new start.
At graduation we all grow nearer;
And all of our friends seem so much dearer.

And as we say our final goodbye,
One last embrace and one more cry.
A "keep in touch" and a promise "I will";
A "remember when", but better yet still ...

"A place in my heart, you'll always stay".

This is what's said as we go on our own way.

Love,
Diane Georgakis

"The only way to fail is to fail to try." This motto of the senior class became the theme of the 1979 graduation. Lisa Sander, valedictorian, Roberta Barker, salutatorian, Jim Wallace, class president, and Jeanne VanKeppel each spoke on "trying your best" — now, in the future and in the past.

The class flower, the yellow rose, was prominently displayed. Blue and light blue caps and gowns emphasized the class colors.

As the '79 seniors reached the end of their high school roads and found themselves standing by the unopened doors to their future — the thresholds of the '80s — many realized the truth of their motto. The only way to fail IS to fail to try.

1. Valedictorian Lisa Sanders speaks concerning the value of "Never stop trying." 2. Ken Patrick and Laurie Odle stand at the threshold of the '80s - their future. 3. The day has come at last for senior, Kim Ransom, as school board presents Robert Cheever presents her diploma. 4. Monte Duda's relatives and friends all come to express their pride and to wish the grads well. 5. The cap and gown in salutation. Roberta Barker receives a final inspection. 6. Senior members Brenda Hendrichs and Steve Liebke have one final chance to "blow their horns" in KV's band. 7. Peggy Colvin receives her class flower, the yellow rose.

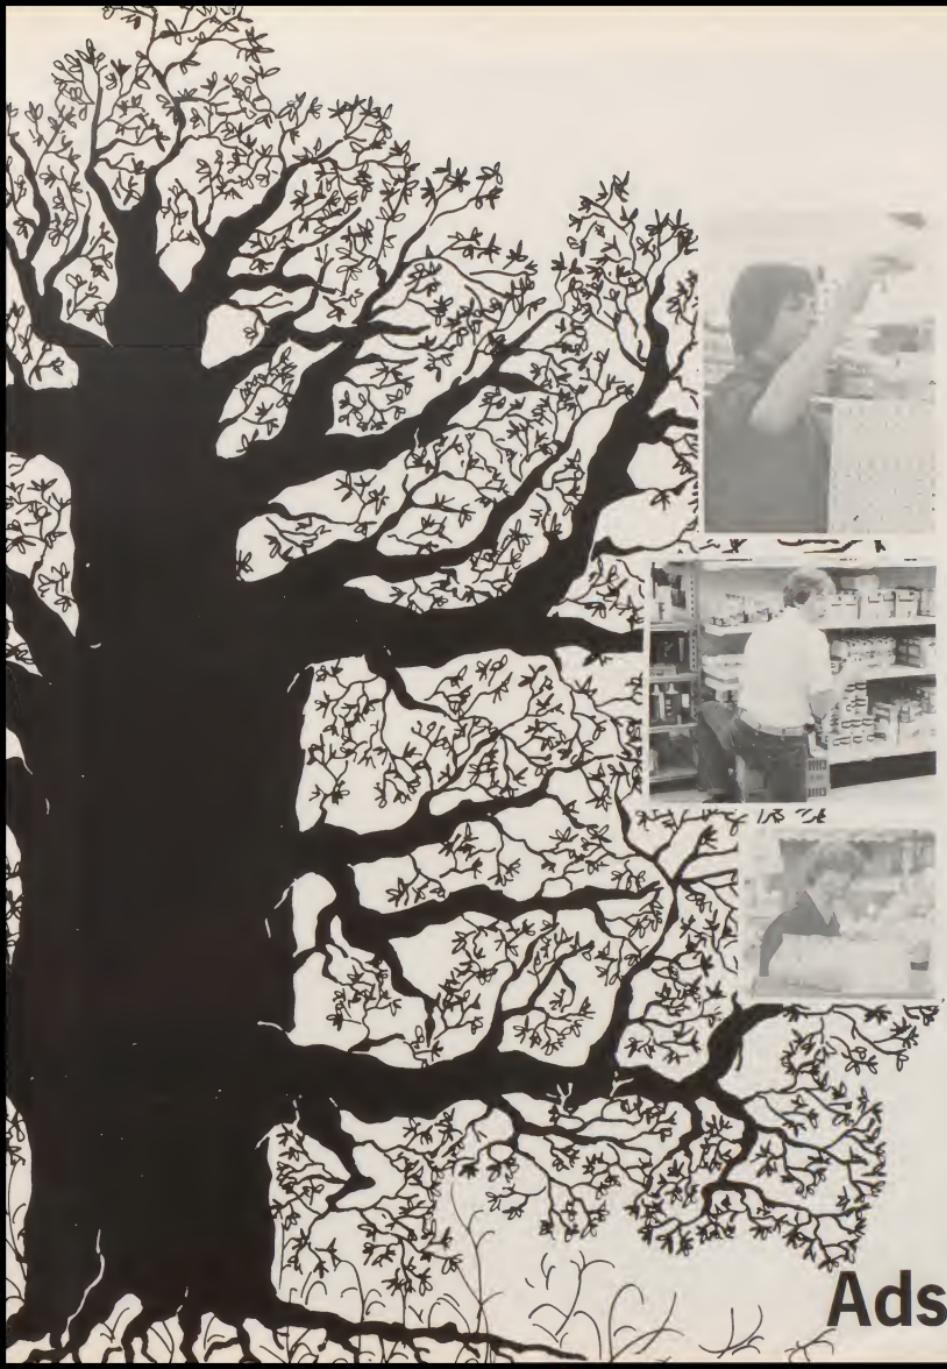

Silent is the dark
Before the sun beams come,
Yet if it were not for the lark,
The dawn would be as dumb,

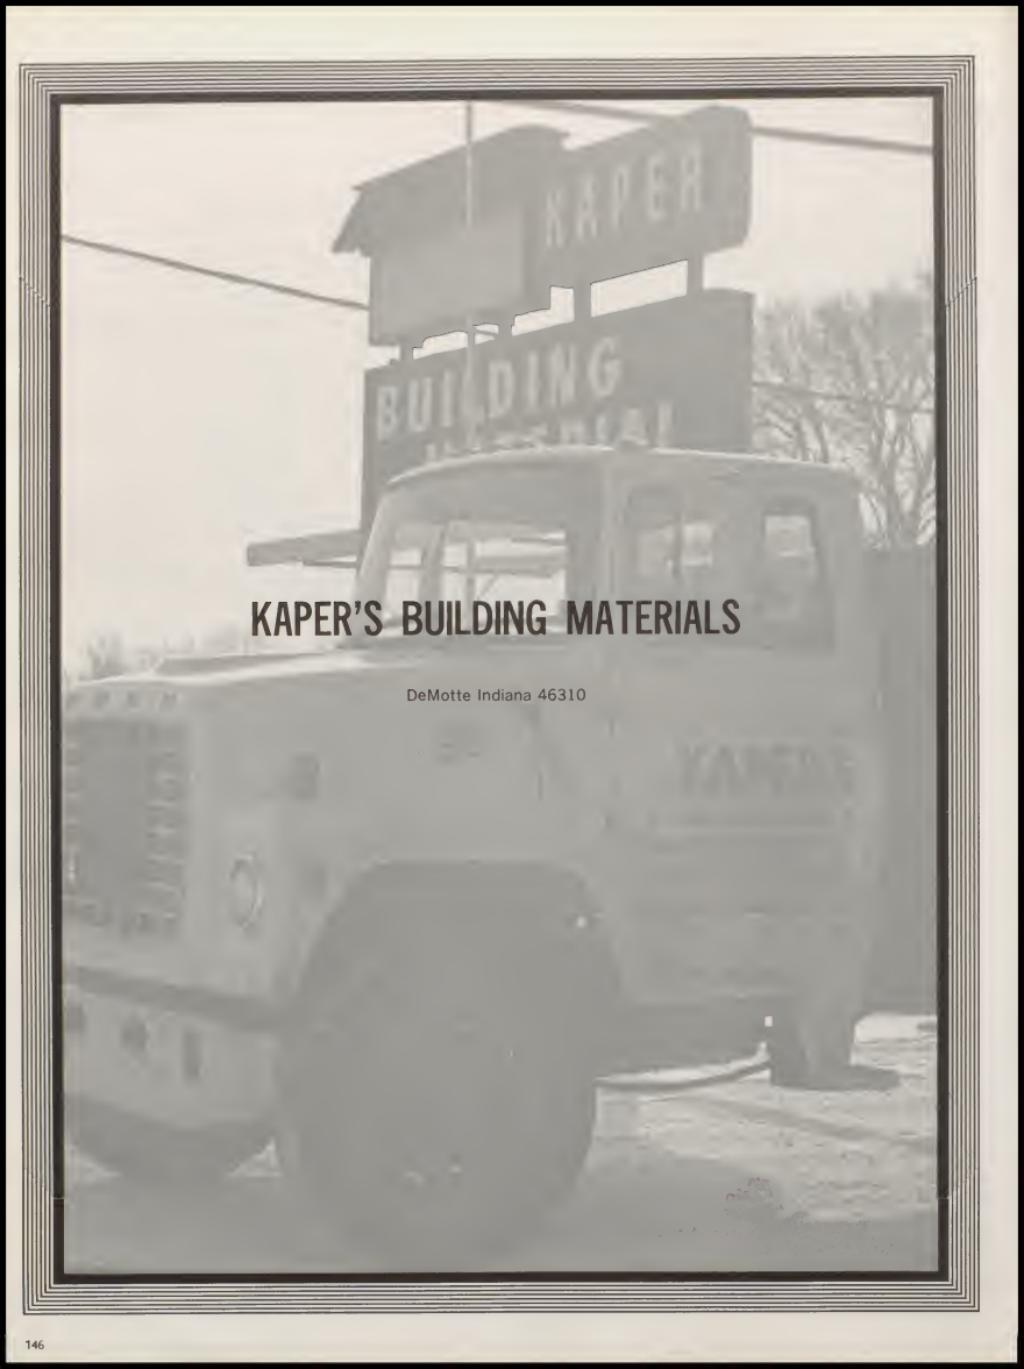

And thus my soul would be
As dark and still as night
If 'twere not for the minstrelsy
Of Hope that sings of Light.

Francis Carlin

Who bids for the souls of the children—
Body and soul and brain?
Who bids for the souls of the children—
Young, and without a stain?

"Will no one bid?" said the Nation,
"For the souls, so pure and white,
And fit for the good or the evil,
The world on their page may write?"

"Give me the little children."
Said crime, "Ye rich, ye wise,
And let the busy world spin 'round
While you shut your idle eyes.

And your judges shall have work,
And your lawyers wag the tongue,
And the jailers and policemen
Shall be fathers of the young."

"I'll bid for the little children."
Cries the communist—atheist too;
"I'll shatter the God they believe in,
And tell them the Bible's not true.

I'll plant in their hearts deep rebellion,
I'll teach them to hate Church and State,
I'll use them to bring revolution
To this country, and I'll seal their fate."

"I'll take the souls of your children."
Cries the horrible monster called War!
"I'll use them for cannon fodder
And scatter your sons afar.

I'll fill them with venom and hatred
And place in their hands a sword
To kill every man, his brother,
As he follows my blood-thirsty horde!"

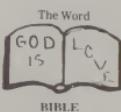

"We bid," says the pest and the famine,
"We bid for life and limb,
Fever and pain and squalor
Their bright young eyes shall dim

When the children grow too weary,
We'll nurse them as our own,
And hide them in secret places,
Where none shall hear their moan."

"Oh! Shame!" Cries the Heart of Jesus.
"Oh! Shame" that this should be!
I'll take the little children
Oh! Give them all to me!

I'll raise them all in kindness
From the mire in which they've trod,
I'll teach them words of salvation,
And lead them up to God."
